Ministry as "Team": A Philosophy of Marriage as Co-Calling

"My spouse is going into ministry. What does that mean for me?" Are you feeling the pressure of the spotlight, the exhaustion of constant outpouring, or the isolation of not having a safe space to be honest? Maybe you're tempted to decide, "It's their calling, not mine." Whether you're in ministry or married to one who is, Coletta Smith and Priscilla Young of Alongside Ministries have an inspiring conversation about embracing team-calling in all forms of service, finding safe people, and navigating both the struggle with identity and God-given opportunities that come with this calling.

The Insecurity Shackled Narcissist

Narcissism has become a widely talked about, recognized, and studied topic. In this conversation, Dr. Ron Welch sheds light on some of the unexpected clinical discoveries around narcissism, bringing both challenge and hope to each of our own self-absorbed tendencies. He provides a research-backed and compassionate perspective on addressing narcissism in organizations, recognizing the deeper causes behind our own narcissistic tendencies, and how grace ultimately carries us through our own insecurities and self-preoccupation.

Our history shapes us. Yet, many of us do not know that history. As a result, we cannot accurately assess where we are and what we need to change in order to redefine a movement in crisis. We hope you can join us for Denver Seminary's first In Perspective panel event of the fall. Panelists will include Dr. Kathleen Mulhern, Pastor Brandon Washington, and Dr. Scott Wenig. If you are local, we invite you to come to campus for a watch party, after which we will be joined by our panelists for an in-person audience Q&A.

In Perspective: The Emotionally Intelligent Leader

The world has never more deeply needed emotionally healthy and intelligent leaders. In this panel, we'll explore how emotional intelligence can be used to improve team dynamics and work outcomes. Panelists will include Steve Cuss and Glenn Packiam. More details to come!

FACULTY & ALUMNI PUBLICATIONS

Understanding Religious Abuse and Recovery

Dr. Patrick Knapp
alumnus ('01)

Currently there are at least four major, identifiable perspectives on how people best understand and recover from religious abuse. This book first examines these viewpoints and evaluates their various strengths and limitations, and then summarizes each viewpoint and suggests a larger contextual perspective. The conclusion is an integration of the various conceptual frameworks, and a different model (SECURE) is described that includes essential principles and practical strategies necessary for recovery from religious abuse.

The Path out of Loneliness

alumnus ('11)

Loneliness has reached epidemic proportions. We have lost the art of connection and relationship. Odds are good that you have a loved one or friend whose struggle with addiction, mental illness, suicidal thoughts, or self-injury stems from loneliness. Dr. Mark Mayfield understands the crisis well, having dedicated his life to helping adults and adolescents confront their feelings of isolation and alienation. This book will guide you, the people you love, and the community you live in toward a richer, fuller, healthier life.
