LAYING THE FOUNDATION FOR THE FUTURE:

Denver Seminary prepares men and women to engage the needs of the world with the redemptive power of the gospel and the life-changing truth of Scripture.

DENVER SEMINARY®

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

“Where do we go from here?”

As the 2021-22 school year began, we were beginning to come out of the darkest days of the pandemic. We had survived the acute phase of the crisis and were beginning to live into the “new normal” it had created. As the past school year went on, we realized not only had we survived the crisis, but we had grown, and we had seen more clearly what we must do to fulfill our mission moving forward.

And by God’s grace we pushed ahead into that future, as our Board and administration made two strategic decisions this past year that will shape us for years to come: the sale of Seminary housing and the “Any” Initiative.

- Sale of Seminary Housing. In February we closed on the sale of our ninety-three-unit apartment complex for $27,850,000. Through the sale of these units, we were able to create a more sustainable financial model with more liquidity and resilience for handling possible economic downturns in the future. This kind of financial model is better suited for the changing enrollment patterns we see with our students, the strong majority of whom will not relocate to Denver to complete their degree.
- Any degree. Anywhere. Any Time. Although we have had online courses and degree programs for a few years, this year we made the commitment to make every degree program fully accessible both online and in-person. Enrollment patterns during the pandemic reinforced our sense that accessibility is the major concern that keeps students from being able to enroll. Our goal must be maximum accessibility, and to that end we launched a major renovation of the learning resource center that includes two new cutting-edge recording studios. These studios will increase our capacity to produce more online courses and greatly enhance the quality of our online learning. I don’t know of another seminary that has made this kind of significant commitment to both quantity and quality of online education.

There is so much more to tell you about the ways God is blessing Denver Seminary. Some of that is found in the pages ahead. Please take the time to digest this report carefully. It will warm your heart and might even illicit a “Hallelujah!”

Grateful for you,

Mark Young
President

Our Core Commitments

Denver Seminary maintains our commitment to Biblical Authority, Charitable Orthodoxy, Vigorous Scholarship, Redemptive Relationships, and Global Concern.

COMMITTED TO SEMINARY EDUCATION

Seminary education in the United States has undergone a striking transformation. Traditionally seminaries existed for the training of professional ministers who would serve their denominations and churches in pastoral, missional, or academic roles. A seminary degree is no longer required for these roles by many churches and mission organizations. Because of this, it falls upon us now more than ever to demonstrate why a seminary education is imperative to a healthy, engaged ministry. Thus, we continue to strengthen core disciplines such as biblical and theological studies, spiritual formation, and apologetics, while addressing and defining vocational pathways and ensuring that the curricula include meaningful vocational counseling.

Moreover, accessible and affordable education continue to be among the most critical ways that seminaries need to adapt. Whereas in the past seminaries would require students to create a life around their seminary education, today's students require seminaries to make the educational experience fit into their work, ministry, and family lives. Students rely on greater flexibility in course scheduling, delivery mode, financial aid, and location to complete their degrees. The students at Denver Seminary share this necessity, with growing families, established homes, and jobs in ministry or in other areas of service. And as we move toward the future, we are poised to meet these challenges and needs.

Today, Denver Seminary is thriving in Littleton, Colo. and Washington, DC, as well as globally online. Our mission is being fulfilled in communities locally and across the globe with nearly 6,500 graduates who work to engage the needs of the world with the redemptive power of the gospel and the life-changing truth of Scripture.

THE CAMPUS OF THE FUTURE

Changes in enrollment patterns for Christian higher education are being felt across the globe. At Denver Seminary we are working to ensure that we are financially sustainable and that we are prepared to continue to meet students' needs—providing education on-campus or online—so they can make the choices that best suit them, while garnering a seminary education that prepares them to engage the needs of the world.

Sale of Seminary Apartments

In February, Denver Seminary closed on the sale of our ninety-three unit apartment complex for $27,850,000. Through the sale of these units, the Seminary has created a more sustainable financial model with more liquidity and resilience for handling economic challenges. For students who continue to enroll in our vibrant on-campus courses, our relationship with Switchback on Platte, the former campus apartments, provides a convenient and affordable housing opportunity in a community adjacent to the Seminary.

Chapel Livestreaming Opportunities

In the fall of 2021, Denver Seminary upgraded its chapel audio/visual equipment to develop its livestreaming capabilities and to grow and enhance the opportunities for inviting more people to events. Today, we offer events via livestream and in-person. The Gospel Initiative conferences, Community Worship, In Perspective panels, and other events have taken place in-person and via livestream, allowing us to grow our reach locally and nationally. Livestreaming capabilities make it possible for the Seminary to invite speakers from anywhere there is Internet access to join us online.

Renovations to the Paul and Marjorie Lewan Learning Resource Center

State-of-the-Art Recording Studio

In 2021-22, through strategic investment in educational technology, the Seminary laid the groundwork to create a campus that lets us reach more audiences, educate students who need or desire virtual educational opportunities, and prepare more men and women to engage the needs of the world. The studios will increase accessibility for students and ensure that our faculty have the capacity to create professional, leading-edge resources, and produce higher-quality academic courses with more creative and personalized content.

Library Renovations

Renovations to the Carey S. Thomas Library created more inviting spaces and enhanced opportunities for relationship building and meeting students' needs. Staff offices were moved near the entrance to better welcome and engage students and staff. Office space was provided for initiatives to ensure they are more publicly connected to the Seminary. A new conference room—the Tuesday Morning Bible Study Conference Room—and the Vernon Grounds Reading Room provide new and updated spaces to meet. An additional conference space was created in the Student Center.

Denver Counseling Center

The Denver Counseling Center underwent renovations. These changes help to ensure clients feel welcome and well cared for while working with Denver Seminary's students.

EXCELLENCE IN EDUCATION

Our highest priority is always our students and the education they receive at Denver Seminary. The following are just a few ways we demonstrated our commitment to their education now and in the future.

The DR. CRAIG L. BLOMBERG Endowed Chair of New Testament

Dr. Joseph Dodson

Dr. Joseph Dodson Named the Dr. Craig L. Blomberg Chair of New Testament

In January, Denver Seminary announced Dr. Joseph Dodson as the Dr. Craig L. Blomberg Endowed Chair of New Testament. Dr. Dodson joined Denver Seminary as associate professor of New Testament in 2019, after serving on the faculty at Ouachita Baptist University since 2008. He earned his PhD in New Testament from the University of Aberdeen in Scotland and studied at the University of Tübingen in Germany.

The Dr. Craig L. Blomberg Endowed Chair of New Testament was established to honor the legacy of Dr. Blomberg, who served as distinguished professor of New Testament, and to continue to build on his academic excellence. Dr. Blomberg retired in 2022 and currently serves as professor emeritus.

Endowed chair positions are valuable for higher education institutions, not only to recognize the distinction of outstanding faculty, but to provide additional support for the chair to use in research and teaching. The Dr. Craig L. Blomberg Endowed Chair of New Testament affirms Denver Seminary's core commitment to biblical authority.

Dr. Dodson is an outstanding teacher of biblical truth. He is equally at ease in the highest echelons of scholarship and in the local church's youth group, garnering rapt attention and profound appreciation in each setting. He also brings a wonderful sense of humor and a serious commitment to live out what he teaches.”

Professor Emeritus of New Testament

Lilly Endowment Grants

In December 2021, Denver Seminary received $1 million from the Lilly Endowment, Inc. for the Pathways for Tomorrow Initiative and $1.25 million for the Young Adult Initiative. Through the Pathways Initiative, the Seminary will study the community and educational needs of the Black and Hispanic communities and churches, and then partner with Black and Hispanic scholars to design, develop, and deploy educational programs, which equip pastors and ministry leaders to serve the kingdom as their authentic selves within their ministry context. The Young Adult Initiative will use funds to expand on information gleaned through the initiative's first phase and to share the findings with a broad audience. Additionally, the Young Adult Initiative intends to deepen and expand its work with congregational ministries focused on young adults in both the Denver metro and Washington, DC areas.

Urban Initiative's Lay Ministry Program

Denver Seminary's Urban Initiative, led by John Moreland, introduced eighteen ministry leaders to higher learning in theological education through the Lay Ministry Program in DC and Denver during the 2021–22 academic year. Though designed for students of color and those who do not hold an undergraduate degree, the program provides a foundation for anyone who desires to know God better and deepen their understanding of Scripture. Topics range from research and writing, to sermon preparation and delivery, to Christian ethics. Several students who went through the Lay Ministry Program subsequently enrolled in Denver Seminary's graduate program.

Denver Seminary Accreditation Update

During the 2021-22 academic year, the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) and the Association of Theological Schools (ATS) both reaffirmed Denver Seminary's accreditation for ten years; CACREP (Council on Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs) renewed accreditation for the Clinical Mental Health and the School Counseling programs. Working through the accreditation process is challenging. Thank you to all the staff, faculty, and Board members who worked on this.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT

Denver Seminary Student: Brandon Young

For Denver Seminary student Brandon Young (MA, Leadership), a former Army Ranger who served four rotations in Afghanistan, understanding moral injuries and supporting military personnel and veterans who live with moral injuries is paramount. Moral injuries are emotional injuries that result from trauma, engaging in activities, witnessing acts, or participating in immediate decision-making that violates their values or ethics.

In November 2021, he created Proximity: Caring for Those Wounded by War, an event hosted in person and online, at Mission Hills Church in Littleton, Colo. Attendees heard from veterans who have been impacted by moral injury and learned how they can better understand moral injury and play a role in the healing process.

Jenkins was awarded an honorary doctorate at the commencement.

At the end of 2021, Denver Seminary's Washington, DC extension campus celebrated the graduation of the first ten students, who completed their degrees in 2019–2021.

Dr. Jan McCormack Honored with National Citizenship Award

In October 2021, Dr. Jan McCormack, associate professor and chair of Chaplaincy and Pastoral Counseling Programs, was awarded the National Citizenship Award by the Military Chaplains Association of the United States of America.

This prestigious award is presented annually to recognize an individual or individuals who make a significant contribution in public service and who support the values and needs of US military members and their families.

As a retired Air Force chaplain, McCormack was one of the first generation of women who served as a military chaplain. She helped redefine military chaplaincy as an inclusive profession, and her collaboration and contributions over the years paved the way for many to follow. In addition, McCormack produced The Work of the Chaplain, which has served as a foundational overview and introduction of chaplaincy. She was also instrumental in developing and implementing one of the first Master of Divinity programs with an emphasis in chaplaincy.

We are honored to celebrate Dr. Jan McCormack. Jan's work has been critical and influential in the field of chaplaincy, and the transformative effects of her service will reach across the nation for decades to come."

One hundred percent of the gifts received went to various relief efforts through these churches, including providing housing, food, counseling, prayer, and financial resources to the affected families.

Nineteenth Annual Golf Tournament

On October 11, 2021, 125 golfers turned out at the Seminary's nineteenth annual golf tournament at the Club at Rolling Hills. We raised nearly $78,000, with proceeds going to the Student Scholarship Fund.
